Dear Sir or Madame,

As a person strongly for the rights of all beings I wish to place my opinion on meat companies having the right to sell meat which came from "downed" animals. A downed animal lives without food, water, or veterinary care until taken to slaughter. I am a vegetarian but I also believe people have the right to eat meat. However, an animal raised for meat shouldn't have to endure torture. Life is the greatest gift no matter if it's human or animal life. I urge you to at least make sure that these living creatures can live a life with shelter, food, water, and veterinary care. No creature should have to live their life in such a terrible way.
