Dear Dr. Henney,

I support the ending of use in animal feed of all antibiotics used in human medicine as well as closely related drugs. Sweden banned all non-therapeutic use of antibiotics in agriculture in 1986, and the country has evolved a highly successful system of meat production that doesn't depend on these drugs.

Because there is no ban in the US health threats from antibiotic-resistant bacteria have continued to mount. As more and more people suffer infections that are difficult to treat and occasionally deadly, these problems are approaching a crisis stage.

Please support a ban on human antibiotics in animal feed.

Sincerely,

Kathryn McIntyre
