Dear Jane Henney,

2373 '00 AUG 16 P2:13

I am writing to urge the FDA to ban the addition of antibiotics to animal feeds. Europe or the European Union has banned all antibiotics especially those used in human medicine. These antibiotics are finding their way into human bodies causing us to become immune to the efficacy of these drugs when needed. Bacteria and viruses mutate so these drugs are no longer helpful in human diseases. Please use common sense and follow the lead of the European citizens and help our citizens with their health. Stop adding antibiotics to animal feed and instead institute cleaning healthy conditions for the animals instead.

Sincerely yours,

Gail Blevins
