To the Director, FDA:

Those who prefer to drink bottled water should be assured of its purity. The manufacturers should show that their water at least meets the standard for public water supplies.

We support your efforts in that direction.

Consumers have the right to know what's in their bottled water. As a member of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, I support the FDA's proposal that bottled-water manufacturers be required to make available detailed reports of contaminants, just as public water utilities do. All bottled-water labels should also disclose where the water comes from.
