Dear Sir,

The disgrace of the broiler and laying hens "industry" is bad enough, tragically so, the only thing in their favour, if you can call it that, is their shortened lives. but when every day is hell, what is that worth? On top of their pathetic lives, ending in the cruelty of transporting and slaughter, they are starved, to force them to lay one more lot of eggs, because by this time they are too exhausted. Are you going to do nothing about this nightmare? First off, the system should be closed down completely, let alone this practice be allowed to continue. The best way to stop abuse and cruelty is to remove the structures that have made it so easy.
