To Whom It May Concern:

I appreciate greatly your interest in the ways fragrances influence the health of others. I also was glad to hear that Tulane University conducted research on the area. Children and adults in schools, as well as within our community, often assume products to be safe as the C Safety Commission, etc. have not recalled them. I am, however, quite aware of the personal ways in which these impair my health. I would urge you to consider having warning labels on perfumes; especially to educate persons about them with full understanding of what they are using.

Let me thank you again.

Sincerely,
Linda Anderson
