Nov. 5, 1999

Dear Ms. Henney,

Not long ago I had a terrible sinus infection that just would not go away even with assorted antibiotic treatment. So, when it came to my attention that some of the most powerful antibiotics are becoming ineffective due to what many think is caused by routinely adding antibiotics to animal feed. What is the FDA position on this over usage of "medically" needed antibiotics? Do you think that we may be in danger of not having a medical treatment left to treat these new, very nasty bacteria? Please let me know.

Thanks,

Kathy Saunders

Harold & Kathy Saunders
324 Marlinspike Dr
Severna Park MD 21146-3309

99P-0485

C 2124

Harold & Kathy Saunders
324 Marlinspike Dr
Severna Park MD 21146-3309

FDA Commissioner Jane Henney
5600 Fishers Lane
Rockville, MD 20857