Dear FDA,
I have given blood on a regular basis since I was 20 years old. and I am now 45. Almost 5 years ago I was diagnosed with Hep A - from what I understand this does not mean I can pass anything on to anyone else by donating my blood. Many people are unable or unwilling to give blood but I would really like to continue donating. I was jaundiced at the time, but did not sustain any permanent damage to my liver. Please let me know according to your guidelines if I can give, and if I can't why not.
