Re: Evaluation of over the counter drug policy

We are strongly of the opinion that birth control pills and other chemical "contraceptives" never be made available OTC. These drugs are too dangerous and cause too many side effects for women, and, in particular, young teens, to have them available without a doctor's prescription.

The same is true of blood pressure meds. These patients must be monitored and under a doctor's care.

Please act responsibly and do not make these prescription items available over the counter.
