Dear Dr. Jane Henney,

I'm writing concerning the restriction of antibiotics used to promote livestock growth. We as a country need to realize that profit + big money can not help when our health is at risk. When we can no longer find cures fast enough + our families are dying because of stupidity + ignorance - it might be to late.

Please keep up the effort to lower or ban these drugs → from the livestock. There is pollution everywhere, and then these company pollute our water - where is there natural anything?

I totally support you on this health issue.

Thank you!
