We vote Yes ... for conspicuous and prominent

#1) labeling for all irradiated foods, including products made with irradiated ingredients.

#2) Adequate signs on bins for irradiated bulk produce

#3) labeling for irradiated foods to be permanent (just like other types of consumer labeling)

#4) Radura symbol to be used on all irradiated foods

We are private citizens that would like to continue to take good care of our health, and having the choice to not consume irradiated foods is part of our program for good health. We realize that most people probably don't care, or haven't had health challenges where they have had to build their health back up (like I have). I know the difference about certain situations, because of the personal observations with myself and others.

I appreciate your assistance in this matter and your willingness to uphold the international labeling standards (Codex) that require irridiated foods to be labeled as irridiated.

Blessings,

Jay and Nanette Purgear
