Dr. Henney:

KM

We are more than concerned about the huge amounts of antibiotics used in livestock feed. Proper sanitation would render it unnecessary to do this & added weight is hardly a consumer benefit! We have already stopped eating meat because it is dirty, but we might need an antibiotic for a germ rendered resistant because of its misuse. Please ignore lobbyists of agriculture, drug & feed industries - they are less important than health of US citizens. Joyce B Soule Thomas L Soule
