Dear Commissioner Henney,

We find it very frightening that antibiotics, created to fight disease in humans (as well as sick animals) should now be used to promote growth in animals.

We fear, not so much for ourselves at our advanced age, but for future generations who will not be able to respond to the antibiotics which helped us.

Please follow the example of the European Union, and ban this use of antibiotics (for promoting animal growth).

Thank you. We wish you a happy + healthy millennium.

Sincerely
Deborah + Aaron Mitrani
