Gentlemen;

I am writing to you in reference to docket # 97N-0511.

We have been drinking freshly squeezed orange juice which we purchased directly from the growers. It has always been wonderful. Now I understand you want to begin pasteurizing all freshly squeezed orange juice. Do you think that is necessary? We've never run into any juice that wasn't delicious. Won't this put many growers out of business? Think about it!

Respectfully
