Docket 00N-1396

Docket 00D-1598

8720 '01 MAR 30 P12:13

Dear FDA ~

I'm writing today in regards to Dockets 00N-1396 and 00D-1598, the issue of labeling genetically engineered food. I am very much an informed food purchaser. I am always concerned with what I put into my body, and I want the very best. I want the best most purest forms of nourishment. I do not feel genetically engineered (i.e. altered from the way God/nature made it all) foods are the purest most healthy balanced foods I can eat. Therefore I have been avoiding unorganic soybeans and corn and potatos, because I hear you are letting these foods into our food supply unlabeled. This labeling of engineered foods I feel is of great importance. Its my right as an intelligent human being to be informed wholely as to what I put in my body. I believe others as Americans deserve this right. I believe you have this right, whether you want to exercise it, every time you put something in your mouth or not is up to you. I however do want to be informed as much as is possible. Why should I use my hard earned money to buy genetically engineered foods when I dont want to alter my bodys natural environment this way? I shouldn't. Please protect my rights as a good honorable citizen of the United States of America and pass a stringent tougher proposal that require labeling and pre-market safety testing on/of genetically engineered foods. After all were supposed to live in the greatest country the U.S.A. and Japan Russia and Europe etc. all already require genetically engineered foods to be labeled!! We can do better with your help we certainly will. Please step up to the plate and do something about it!

Very Sincerely,
Danielle White
