Dear Mr. Friedman:

We are both very upset, that, in this age of so many testing alternatives, Procter and Gamble and other companies continue to subject so many animals to such cruel testing.

Please stop requiring pharmaceuticals from performing this cruel and obsolete testing, and allow these companies to substitute in vitro tests for both the safety of people and animals. Too many animals are tortured or dying needlessly! Alternatives are available!

Thank you for anything you can do; your concern is appreciated.

Sincerely,
Ronald + Angela Nardine
