Dear Comissioner:

I write you this letter to urge you to accelerate FDA efforts to develop, validate and accept humane alternatives to product testing on animals. I urge you to actively discourage animal-based testing by manufacturers of cosmetic and presonal care products.

Substances which are harmless to one species can be toxic to another, this alone proves that animal testing is not accurate because we are HUMANS not rats or dogs. Please do not hesitate to do more research on this issue and see for yourself, that testing on animals is convinient for industry, not for the people of our society. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Corinne Soreni
