Re: Doc. 00D-1598

Dear Food and Drug Administration:

I'm writing to ask that if food contains genetically engineered components, then the label should show that. There has not been enough testing to know if such food would adversely affect people. I want to know if genetically engineered food is in a product so that I can avoid buying it. I think its a real disservice that more information about this proposed document has not gone out to the public. It will affect everyone. Everyone I know wants labeling to reflect the true make-up of a food product.

Sincerely,

Shirley L. McDonald
