I am writing in support of the legal petition by the Center for Food Safety regarding Genetically-Engineered foods. I am very concerned about potential side effects upon: consumer health, biodiversity, organic agriculture, and patenting of our genetic heritage.

I ask that the FDA mandate labelling of foods with GE ingredients to adequately inform consumers about their food. I also ask you to require long-term safety testing before any other GE products make it to market. I think we should proceed with caution when we encounter a technology such as genetically engineering food production.
