Dear Jane,

I am writing to support the legal petition by the Center for Food Safety on genetically engineered foods. I believe the FDA should require that no new genetically engineered foods or products with genetically engineered (GE) ingredients be released until the FDA completes long-term safety testing.

In addition, I think the FDA should require that all GE foods sold in stores should be labeled as such so that consumers know what they are buying and eating. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

David Wanish
