To Whom It May Concern—

I am writing to ask for conspicuous and prominent labeling for all irradiated foods, including products made with irradiated ingredients (such as irradiated pork used in sausage or soup.) All irradiated bulk produce should have appropriate signs. Labeling for irradiated foods should be permanent, just like other types of consumer labeling. The radura symbol should be used. I would recommend using the Codex labeling requirements (the international labeling standards) requiring that all irradiated foods be labeled as irradiated.

Thank you for reading my thoughts.
