Dear Mr. Jaffe

5304 '99 APR 12 A10:41

Do not allow any further forced molting of laying hens.

Forced molting throws hens' systems into collapse, shocking them into their feathers quickly and forcing their already worn out bodies into a new laying cycle.

Painfully starving hens to force them to lose their feathers is even more barbaric than the close quarters and beaks cut off.

Stop the cruelty please.

Sincerely, Naomi Caplan
