To Whom It May Concern:

I am absolutely boggled by the current debate as to whether irradiated food should be labeled. I have the right to know what I am buying. Is that not the point of the labeling requirements of the FDA. Consumers right to know. I implore you to continue to require a prominent display of products that are irradiated. I don't want to buy irradiated food and if it is not labeled I will be forced to buy food that I do not accept as safe. Thank you for your time and effort in soliciting public comment.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Hands
