Dear FDA,

I am writing concerning the Draft Memorandum referring to Formulary Pharmacies: Your Right to Choose. In particular, I object to the definition of "inordinate amount" which restricts my availability and the right to obtain medically necessary compounded medications by limiting the number of prescriptions that can be shipped across state lines from specialized compounding pharmacies. For the past year I have been going through tests and have been diagnosed with postmenopausal syndrome/osteoperia. My physician has prescribed a customized medication - "one size doesn't fit all." If this document is adopted by state boards, I'll no longer be able to get specialized medication of natural hormones at a reasonable price.

I am urging you to withdraw your memorandum to state pharmacy boards and leave medication choices to individual doctor-patient-pharmacists teams working in a time-honored tradition that goes back centuries.
