Subject: Labeling of Irradiated Foods.

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen of the FDA,

I am writing to express my opinion on the labeling of irradiated foods in the United States.

As a consumer, I want labeling on foods (both fresh & processed foods). I feel that how a food is made, ingredients, and other processing/production methods should be made clear on the final product at point of sale.

Currently, I feel that the labeling of inputs and nutritional information are valuable in making purchasing choices. Labeling of irradiated foods should be labeled, as this is a new technology that is going to be widely adopted in the making of food.

98N-1038 Thank you for your consideration. C858
