I am writing to hope that you will support the petition to ban the forced molting of layer hens (docket 98P-0203/CP). How can the The FDA be doing its job to monitor food products in the U.S. if it allows this practice to occur when Great Britain and other European countries do not allow such practices of food deprevation. I encourage you to find ways to end factory farming and replace them with family farms and monitor them so that all animals are treated humanely in life and in death I don't expect the elimination of people eating meat, eggs and dairy products but I do expect these animals to be treated with respect and care - after all they are living and feeling creatures no different from you or your child.

Please be compassionate and mindfull in your actions. Your acts of compassions will only come back to fullfill your life in ways you would never expect.

Sincerely,
Margaret Nelk
