Hello!

Meat shouldn't be irradiated at all! If meat inspections are done as they're supposed to be, the meat would be clean. We had a friend who was a meat inspector. He would find different things wrong, report them, and the meat was let go, anyway. He finally quit meat inspection and got another job.

As far as labelling — less conspicuously displayed?? If it is great, why not have it in Large Black Letters, so everyone would know?? Yes, my preference would be conspicuously displayed. I will try to go to great lengths to avoid irradiated meat.

Yours truly,

Mrs. Eddie Johnson
