Dear FDA Staff,

5/5/99

A few questions: Is it possible the molecular structure of our foods could have been purposely developed by our Creator to fill our nutritional needs? Is it possible that irradiating our foods could damage those structures? If it is even remotely possible that this could damage our health, shouldn't long-term studies be implemented first? And either way, shouldn't consumers be given the choice of what to buy? Is it your agency's job to protect the public? → I.E., LABELING

Pandora's not out of the box yet, guys; there's still time to do the right thing. Please do it.

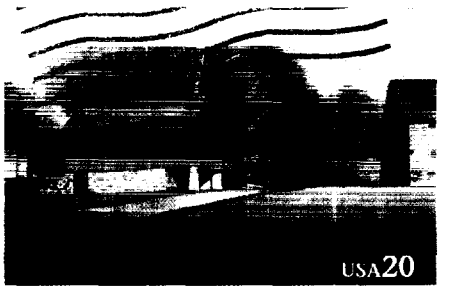
Sincerely, David Harris

98N-1038

C 1374

DAVID ALLAN HARRIS
2574 VALERIE COURT
SANTA CRUZ, CA 95062

Printed on 100% Tree-Free (Sugar Cane) Paper



Dockets Management Branch
(HFA-305)
FDA
5630 Fishers Lane, Room 1061
Rockville, MD 20852