This issue of the unnecessary use of antibiotics in animal feed is not just a concern of mine - it is life-threatening! I, along with tens of thousands of people in the world suffer from a condition called Chronic systemic Candida. One of the major causes of this disorder which weakens the immune system is the over use of antibiotics prescribed by doctors. So when we eat meats with antibiotics - it's like putting fuel on the fire. I have to try to eat only organic meats which is impossible because (1) It's hard to find and (2) It's so expensive.

And to make things more complicated - people with this condition have to stay on a low carbohydrate diet eating mostly meats and vegetables.
