Dear Commissioner Henney,

'99 MAY 18 P1:40

Your name has been given me as someone who might be able to help in two matters of concern to me:

1) I would feel much easier in my mind were it possible for consumers to identify foods, including ground beef and chicken, which have been subjected to the process of irradiation. This might be accomplished by requiring the distributors of such commodities to affix a prominent disclosure on the front of their packaging.

2) I urge you to save human lives by banning the incorporation of medically useful antibiotics in animal feed, a practice which can make bacteria resistant to the antibiotics

vol, leaving physicians helpless in the face of life-threatening bacterial infections in humans. I understand that the Center for Science in the Public Interest (CSPI) has filed a petition with the Food and Drug Administration in this regard. I support that petition.

Yours sincerely,

Art Arnold
