Dear Commissioner Henney,

As a father of two children, and a long-time grower and consumer of organic food, I earnestly request your help in the matter of food irradiation.

If some shoppers desire to buy irradiated products, they have that privelege. But for those of us Americans who want to avoid them, please ensure that all irradiated foods (or items containing portions thereof) be labeled clearly, in large print, on the front of the packages! Thank you,

Sincerely,

Jared Rossman
