Hello!

Just read the EPA's ridiculous pamphlet on Pesticides, with little kids having a happy pic-nic eating a typical American lunch. Was that pamphlet edited by Monsanto? That's the rumor, anyway. And given the obvious bias in favor of eating bug poison, and against eating organic food, I believe it. Did y'all get presents from Ol' Frankenfood Corp for keeping quiet? Free chemo-therapy? I realize you're underfunded and understaffed but you do have some cards to play, and as a regular (but not loyal) taxpayer I ask that you issue a mandatory big red warning sticker for all of that brightly colored poison shit they call food at the store, and when Monsanto comes at you with customised organic food standards in one hand and threats and presents in the other, be a good gov. agency and tell them no.
