Dear Mr. Lake —

I view with outrage and alarm the US plan to participate in the current CODEX labelling campaign. Why are our choices to be limited by an unelected bureaucratic domestic and/or international organization? Why will we not be allowed to have information on whether a food is genetically engineered or not; or whether BGH is contained in it; or what its source or content is? Consumers do have a right to know. I consider it a form of fascism — food fascism —

Yours truly
