Dear Ms. Honney

I am writing to join the many aware individuals who are concerned about the current practice of feeding dead animals to other animals. Actually, initially I could not believe that this practice took place, it seems so barbaric & unhealthy. Cows, pigs & horses are, as you know, vegetarians it is not nourishing to their systems for them to eat meat & thus in turn produce unhealthy sources of food for humans.

You know, I don't believe that most people understand this, but you do, as do the very people who are abusing their responsibility to both animals & humans. This must stop.

Also, I am horrified to read & hear about our inefficient slaughterhouses that begin to skin, dismember + scald animals while they are still conscious!

My God, I would never eat another one!

Please use your every effort to transform these primitive practices & promote care for the animals that give their lives so that we may be nourished.

Thank you,

J Baer,
