Dear Commissioner Henney,

I have been alarmed for some time by the genesis of antibiotic resistant bacteria mostly, I believe, due to non-compliance by patients with the necessary treatment regimens. 99P-0485 However, I have recently read that antibiotics are being added to livestock feed (poultry, hogs, beef) to prevent disease + promote growth. This has also promoted the development of antibiotic resistant C904 organisms. Please ban the use of human antibiotics in animal feed. Thank you,

Sincerely, Michele M. Pappagianis
