June 6, 1999

Dr Jane Henney
Commissioner, U.S. F.D.A.

Dr Henney,

2804 '99 JUN 14 P1:31

The first time I heard about human antibiotics in the feed of cattle and other farm animals was in the car radio. It seemed our country was trying to export our beef to European countries (where this process is banned) — under threat of high tariffs if refused. This is disgusting. Upon further reading I learned that it is dangerous for us in this country to consume this meat. It's a terrible thing we're doing to ourselves and to this planet. I urge you to revoke the use of human antibiotics in animal feed. It's the ethical and moral thing to do.

Sincerely,
Suzanne Gurche

99P-0485

C1047

KANSAS CITY MO
PM
06 JUN
1999

33 USA

Dr. Jane Henney
Commissioner, U.S. FDA.
5600 Fishers Lane Room 1471
Rockville, Maryland
20857

Mrs. John C. Gurche
2036 W. 96th St.
Leawood, Kansas 66206