Dear Sirs:

I oppose the Draft Memorandum currently under consideration by the FDA. In particular, I object to the attempt to limit the ability of formulary pharmacies to ship medications meant for personal use across state lines; by using the phrase "inordinate amount."

I use formulary pharmacies to obtain necessary medications that I could not obtain otherwise - most importantly, natural hormones and specialized anti oxidants and probiotics. I had severe bouts of depression when using premarin, and am grateful to have another choice of hormone. I am currently recovering from a collection of chronic fatigue symptoms caused by extremely poor digestion, which has among other secondary effects, dramatically increased the number of free radicals in my bloodstream. As you know, many women suffer from chronic fatigue symptoms for years with little or no improvement. I would be in that same category were it not for the medications, unavailable where I live, that I receive monthly. C3281

In conclusion, I urge you to reconsider this legislation.

Sincerely, Mary B. Brown
