In the interest of protecting my own health and that of my grandsons — indeed, all persons — I am insisting that all irradiated foods be labeled in an honest clear way for consumers. The requirement for irradiation disclosure, both on the label and with the radura symbol, should not be allowed to expire. My reference is to Docket # 98N-1038, Irradiation in the Production, Processing, and Handling of Food.

The FDA should be protecting our food supply for consumer health, not serving the bottom line of huge corporations. Our nation's health is weakened by using us as recipients of experiments.

Sincerely,

C3286
