Docket #98N-1038 7/3/99

Dear FDA,

Please reject the proposals to use terms like "Cold Pasteurization" when referring to irradiated meat. The job of the FDA is to protect our food safety and allow us to make our informed decisions about what we will eat or not.

These terms are clever ways to prevent us from knowing how our food was processed. I think it is an industry ploy to relax cleanliness standards & sell nuclear waste!

Reject the terms & insist on bold and clear indication of irradiation. Thomas Runyon
