Dear Mr. Hubbard,

6723 '99 JUL 15 A11:24

I write about Docket # 98N-1038, Irradiation in The Production, Processing and Handling of Food.

I want to continue, and preferably strengthen, labeling of irradiated food.

I don't want to eat irradiated food. I don't care, and don't believe, scientists who say it is "safe."

The only way I can know if I'm eating irradiated food is if the container it comes in is labeled.

It should be labeled in plain view, with the radura symbol, and should avoid euphemisms like "cold pasteurization."

Thanks.
