This note is to let you know that my household fully supports the petition to ban forced molting of layer hens. Since reading the Peta article we have ceased eating eggs & have convinced others to do so as well. The people (friends & family) we have not convinced to give up eating eggs have at least switched to cage free/cruelty free eggs. Even the single mothers who have a hard time making ends meet agree to spend the extra money on the cruelty free eggs!

I look forward to reading more good things that the USDA is trying to do to help prevent cruelty. After all all life has value.
