Dear Mizz Henney,

I recently read an article in a magazine explaining what is going on with GM food. I am scared and angry. I'm scared because of the many allergic reactions people may have, not to mention the harmful reactions to butterflies. I'm angry because I am a vegetarian (lacto). I in no way want animal genes in my food. How dare we be used as the nations testers!? "The greatness of a nation and its moral progress can be judged by the way its animals are reared." —Mahatma Gandhi

Aren't we animals too?
