Commissioner Jane E. Henney, FDA

Irradiated foods need to ~~[illegible]~~ a prominent disclosure, in easy-to-read type, on the front of its packaging. This will enable me and all other consumers to make our own judgement and choice of what to eat.

As an engineer I have too often been faced with the reality that what is touted as "no discernable adverse effects" is unfortunately influenced more by financial profit than by conservative, thorough (and therefore long-term and expensive) testing and evaluation.

Again, I need information - on the food - so that I make the choice, not someone unknown to me.

Your efforts to ~~the~~ get this simple information on the food will be appreciated.

Sincerely,

Edward L. Mass
