To whom it may concern,

I'm writing this letter to state that if you stop force molting the hens then maybe their immune systems could stop the spread of salmonella. Recent research, including studies done by the United States government, showed forced molting increases frequency and severity of salmonella enteritidis among hens. The effects of forced molting are that it weakens their immune system, this makes it hard for them to fight off diseases. Their are approx. 195 million hens who endure bizzare torture called forced molting. That's a lot of chances for salmonella to be spread. Please help stop the spread of salmonella and stop the horrible tortoren preformed on hens, just to produce one more batch of eggs.

Sincerely
Brandon
