I am in favor of the FDA approving the 4 claims filed by Dr Whitaker for the use of natural supplements.

I personally experienced the benefits of Saw Palmetto in reducing BPH and folic acid for reducing homocysteine.

I don't need a "double blind" clynical study to tell me what works. The FDA and AMA pooh-pooh" so called ~~anecd~~ anecdotal claim made by individuals. Well, I'm always reading about "real" studies that had false conclusions. Please ~~put more~~ assign more credability to real case studies.

Just because the Drug Companies can't make money from un-patentable, natural nutritional supplements, they (and the AMA it seems) are against them. Do not be so influenced by them.

What we need is a FDA for natural products!!
