Dear Mr. Glickman,

I am contacting you to express my great concern with the possibility that foods that have been genetically altered and engineered may reach the marketplace without being properly labeled so that consumers can make informed choices. Therefore, I would strongly urge you to take whatever steps are necessary to ensure that the following products are label clearly: 1) Genetically engineered foods 2) products that contain genetically engineered foods

C6201

Science is not certain that these foods are safe for either [illegible]

92N-0139

Until that question is answered with 100% certainty, I urge you to use your good offices to ensure that I can make an informed choice when I shop for food to feed my family. I would appreciate hearing from you with whatever steps you can take to ensure that this happens. My health and my family's health is of prime concern to me

Sincerely,

Jessica Joseph
