Dear FDA:

I am writing because I am shocked, that you have decided, that as an American citizen, I do not have the right to know if the food I am eating is genetically engineered. Has this country become a dictatorship of corporations? Has the Bill of Rights been revoked? I certainly do not understand how this could happen. GET A backbone... if our rights keep slipping by the wayside we will no longer be a country of the free. Please insist that our labelling laws include whether a food has been genetically modified.

Sincerely,
Doris Godwin
