Dear Dockets' Management Branch,

Years ago, I happened to enter the livingroom, where the television set was presenting a statue of Lenin. The program emphasized Lenin's philosophy of the end justifying the means. Narrated was Russia's experimental nuclear explosion to test the effects of radioactivity upon the inhabitants of a Soviet village in testing distance. Ultimately, a "museum" stored the jars of deformed infants born after the experiment.

In testing the smallpox vaccine on children, we are succumbing to totalitarianism's eploitation of the individual person for the benefit of the state. We are supporting Lenin in his philosophy of the end justifying the means. We are exposing individual children to terrible disease and are thereby losing the war against slavery and against terrorism.
