Re: Genetically engineered Foods

TO WHOM IT CONCERNS

Please accept this writing as my demand that the FDA require the labelling of all genetically engineered foods contents and processing. Only with full disclosure can the public exercise informed choice. This new and relatively untested process may be a godsend and also may be lethal.

I completely support the right of our trading partners to refuse access of these unidentified food products into their markets. The FDA is inviting criticism by not extending its labelling requirements to include genetically engineered food products. I am taking steps possible to not purchase these products.

Further I am expressing these opinions and positions to my elected representative, retail stores, restaurateurs and friends.

Thank you for noting my position.
