Dear Dr. Henney,

As a citizen + mother of 3 children I am deeply concerned about the issue of antibiotic-resistant "super germs". We can be careful about how often we use antibiotics ourselves but as citizens we have no control over the overuse of antibiotics on livestock in the food we eat. It is urgent that the FDA strengthen their guidelines on antibiotic use for animals. This is a situation that will become only more vital as time goes on.

I appreciate your concern in this matter.

Sincerely,
Rebecca Smith
